Cyclone Jim Marshall, from the hills of Craig, still retains his thirst for office. He now has a hankering for the job of lieutenant governor. Cyclone doesn't lack much of being a back issue.

If the United States Senate refuses to ratify the general arbitration treaty with Great Britain, the Venezuelan congress might make a similar disposition of the one Secretary Olney labored so hard to arrange for the settlement of the Guiana boundary question, and then if both schemes should fall through, this country might be called upon, after all, to enforce the Monroe doctrine. In that case who would be to blame?

Richard R. Quay, son of the Pennsylvania Senator, is not as well up in political legendaries as his distinguished father. He was arrested last Saturday at Pittsburg on the charge of criminal libel, preferred by State Senators Magee and Flinn, and had to give a bond of $1,000 in each case. The "old man" could never have been caught napping in that way. He would have done the other fellows up with neatness and dispatch and would not have been the loser of much money either.

It would be a great pity if not enough native Republican talent could be found in the South to furnish one member of McKinley's Cabinet. Hon. H. Clay Evans is urged for a position at the council board of the nation as a representative of Southern Republicanism; but he is not to the manner born, and his appointment would be no more of a recognition of the claims of this section than if a man were taken for the place directly from Massachusetts or Connecticut. McKinley will make a great mistake if he ignores the talent of his party in the South; for, while it must be admitted that the material for Cabinet positions is scarce among the Republicans of this section, it is believed that there is enough of it here to fill at least two places, with men of as much ability as the average selections already made from the North and West.

Congress is still harping on the subject of Cuban independence; but as long as the administration refuses to act nothing can be done in that direction. It was hoped at one time that the incoming Republican administration would be more favorable to the cause of the patriots than Mr. Cleveland has been; but the indications are that there will be no material change in the policy of the Government in respect to the Cuban rebellion when the Republicans come into power. In that case, the patriots will have a hard road to travel; but it will not mean that Spain will be victorious in the end. So far as Congressional talk is concerned, however, the Spanish people have long since discovered that there is but little danger in the vapors which emanate from the halls of American legislation in regard to interference by this country with the plans and purposes of Spain.

Representative Murray, the colored Congressman from South Carolina, who talked of objecting to the counting of the electoral vote of that State, but who was dissuaded from the effort by his white colleagues from other States, is determined to get the matter in some shape before the national legislators. He has introduced in the House of Representatives a resolution reciting that the electoral vote of the State is irregular, and authorizing the Speaker to appoint a special committee of five members of the present House, who will report to the next House an investigation of the alleged irregularities. The committee is authorized to sit during the recess of Congress and thereafter in Washington and South Carolina, and to send for persons and papers. What will be done on the subject remains to be seen; but it is hardly probable that a Republican Congress will take any steps that will throw doubt upon the validity of the election of their candidate for President; for if the vote of South Carolina is involved now, it was equally so when the votes of all the States were counted last Wednesday.

In the death of Hon. John Randolph, Tucker Virginia loses an able statesman, a learned lawyer and an admirable teacher. His career in Congress reflected credit on the State and brought honor and fame to himself; while his course as an instructor in the halls of education earned him the respect and esteem of many who will carry with them into the higher walks of life the benefits of his teachings. In these days of progress and enlightenment the statesmanship of the Old Dominion has not been of the highest order. The men in public life have been lacking somewhat in the broad views and far-reaching sagacity of those Virginians who in the early days of the Republic added undying lustre to the annals of the State and nation. While many of Virginia's sons in the past fifty years have been above mediocrity, they have failed to measure up to the standard set by their predecessors; but in regard to the subject of this sketch it can be said that he came nearer to the old-time ideal than many who were called to higher stations in the national councils, and it is believed that if fortune had favored him by advancing him to the places he was qualified to fill, he would have won the same degree of eminence there that he secured elsewhere. John Randolph Tucker proved the truth of heredity in that his father before him held high places in the government and in the esteem of their countrymen, places, however, which reflected no less credit on their descendants than some of them have upon their ancestry. In other words, he came of a family remarkable for the descent of talents and in his case the analogy bids fair to be continued in the person of his son and successor, Hon. Harry St. George Tucker, the distinguished representative in Congress of the Tenth Virginia district.

The Hon. A. P. Staples in the Richmond State has the following to say about the proposed constitutional convention:

"The proposition is a grave and serious one. Constitutional conventions, on account of their vast powers, are always more or less dangerous. Guided by sane and conservative men, they are healthful and beneficial in their results, removing from the organic law of the State those excrescences that progress leaves behind it at every step, and remedying those defects that can be discovered alone by experience; but guided by unsafe and radical men, constitutional conventions are more or less alarmingly hurtful to the body politic, disturbing certain policies on which business interests rest and upon which public peace is dependent, tearing down protective barriers which the past history of governments has demonstrated to be necessary or organic laws, and experimenting with new and untried theories.

Had the Hon. Staples stopped here he would have left a nice little monument to his intelligence and patriotism, but before he closes his communication he gives us to understand that he will bow unwhimsically to the boys who turn the crank and walk up and cast his vote for a convention.

B. AND L. ASSOCIATIONS.

What Chief Justice Snodgrass Says About Them.

Chief Justice Snodgrass, of the Tennessee supreme court, has written a letter to J. H. Bible, general attorney for a Chattanooga building and loan association, concerning the decisions of his court in such matters, which will be of interest to the public. After referring to the questions asked by Mr. Bible, Judge Snodgrass says:

"Replying briefly, I would say that the decisions of this court, remote and recent, have been uniformly to the effect that the legally chartered building and loan associations, which make legal contracts in their business, were entitled to the protection of the law, as construed from the Patterson case in 14th Lea, through all the succeeding published opinions of the court. There has been no change in the law by any construction of ours, at Knoxville or elsewhere. It has occasionally been our fortune or misfortune to find some building and loan associations making illegal contracts, as we have found individuals doing. In such cases, whether a building and loan association or individuals, we have declared the contract illegal. We have in no case decided any question adverse to the legal contract of a legally chartered building and loan association, otherwise than decided in the cases published, and with which all of them are familiar. In other words, so far as the law is concerned, by which they are organized and controlled, there has been nothing new decided in respect to building and loan associations, whatever reports may exist to the contrary, as indicated in your letter. The court has difficulty enough to get by specific direction correctly reported what is decided, and it is of course impossible for it to control the version of those who, from inattention, mistake or selfish purpose, may be led to misunderstand or misreport the decisions of the court. Whether anything of this kind has been done or not, I do not know, and I must not assume. It is sufficient to say that the court itself is unconscious of having in the slightest varied the general law of the subject, as announced in the various decisions."

MANY NAVAL ORDER.

THE POWERS INTERFERE.

Actual Hostilities Were Begun at Canea Saturday.

THE CHRISTIANS GAINED A VICTORY OVER THE BLOODY TURKS

IN THEIR FIRST ENCOUNTER—

WAR VESSELS OF THE UNITED

POWERS FORM A BLOCKADE

OFF THE COAST OF CRETE.

Canea, Crete, Feb. 15.—The Greek flotilla is lying at anchor outside of the cordon, which has been formed by the warships of the powers and will not be permitted to come any nearer. The foreign warships are practically blockading Canea.

The reports that the Greek flotilla landed large quantities of arms, ammunition, etc., intended for use of the insurgents, during the night of February 12 or at any subsequent time, are absolutely untrue. The number of insurgents who are gathered around Canea is estimated at 12,000. They have only field one gun.

The Turks, under cover of four field guns of the fortress, made a sortie on Saturday upon the Halaqa quarter of the town, where a hot fight ensued, resulting in the Turks being driven back by the Christians and compelled to retire to the fortress.

After nightfall a force of 1,700 Moslems, regulars and volunteers, made another sortie, which was stoutly opposed by the Christians. The fighting which ensued was of the most desperate character and the losses on both sides were heavy. The Moslems finally retreated to the fort. It is thought that in spite of the vigilance of the warships the Greek transports may succeed in landing an expedition.

FRANCE TAKES A HAND.

Vienna, Feb. 15.—It is stated upon semi-official authority that the admiral in command of the French squadron, as the senior flag officer, in Cretan waters, will take command of the united fleets of the powers, and every movement of the warships will be made under his direction. It is further stated that all arrangements for definite action on the part of the fleets of the powers have been completed.

THE POWERS INTERFERE.

Athens, Feb. 15.—The representatives of the powers accredited to Greece held two meetings yesterday, their conferences taking place at the French legation. At the second meeting, which was held in the evening, it was agreed that the powers, through their ministers at Athens, should protest against Greek interference in Crete, and as a result of this decision the French minister, M. Bourée, waited upon M. de Lannis, the Greek premier, and intimated to him that the powers had determined to take decisive steps, even resorting to arms, to prevent Greece from taking further hostile action in Crete.

M. Bourée, as the spokesman of the representatives of the powers, asked for the return of the Greek flotilla, and at the same time promised that the powers would take into consideration the claims of Greece in Crete in regard to a return of Crete to Greece.

M. de Lannis asked to be allowed time in which to reply to the representations made by M. Bourée, which request was granted.

The military reserve forces are responding with great unanimity to the government's summons and are flocking to the military depots in large numbers. The military bureau reports that the lists of the reserves will be made up within two days.

PRINCE GEORGE NOTIFIED.

Canea, Crete, Feb. 15.—The commanders of the British and other foreign warships stationed here have informed Prince George, commanding the Greek torpedo flotilla, that they have received orders to prevent the occupation of the island by Greece, and if necessary to use force to carry out these instructions.

WILL NOT ACT ALONE.

London, Feb. 15.—Geo. N. Curzon, parliamentary secretary of foreign affairs, announced to the house of commons today, in reply to a question regarding the exact situation in Crete, that the powers were taking every step possible for them to take advantage of toward checking the disorders in that island. All of the foreign consuls in Crete, he added, were under instructions to co-operate in the direction of restoring order.

Mr. Curzon said that the government had absolutely no information that the Musselmans in Crete were exposed to massacre at the hands of the Christians.

Replying to requests for information as to the course to be taken by the British naval vessels in Cretan waters, Mr. Curzon said that the British naval officers have been instructed to take no isolated action in Crete under any circumstances.

Mr. Curzon declined to make any statement as to the nature or purport of the correspondence which had passed between the powers concerning the Cretan situation and the position of the powers in regard thereto.

MUST MAKE AFFIDAVIT.

Washington, Feb. 15.—It is stated at the Treasury Department that the steamer Bermuda will not be permitted to leave Philadelphia until her owners and her master make affidavits that the steamer does not intend to violate the neutrality laws of the United States.

A RAILROAD DEFEATED.

Washington, Feb. 15.—The act of 1887, for siting the land grant of the Atlantic and Pacific Railroad Company, was sustained in all points today by the supreme court, the opinion being read by Justice Brown. It was exhaustive, reviewing all the defenses set up by the company and finding against it on every point. The case came to the supreme court from the supreme court of Mexico upon an appeal by the railroad company from judgment in favor of Robt. Mingus.

SALEM NEWS

EDWARD JETER, REPORTER.

M. P. Frantz left Monday morning for Tazewell county.

Dr. Thos. H. B. Dillard returned Sunday evening from a visit to his farm in Campbell county, near Forest Depot.

T. I. Preston, secretary and treasurer of the city council, had a very severe attack of asthma Saturday night, but was somewhat better yesterday.

Miss Haynes, one of the matrons at the Baptist Orphanage, received a telegram Saturday evening stating that her brother was critically ill at Atlanta. She left on the next train to attend him.

M. Kirsner, wife and children left Saturday night for Philadelphia, from which point Mr. Kirsner will leave in a few days for England.

Editor C. D. Denit left Sunday for Richmond, where he went to attend a meeting of the executive committee of the Virginia Press Association, of which he is president.

Lewis F. Snyder, well-known in Salem, now living in Columbus, Ohio, is visiting friends and relatives in this city.

W. L. Giles, of Newport, Giles county, was visiting friends here Sunday and Monday.

Owing to the sickness of Dr. J. B. Taylor and the absence of Rev. E. H. Hubbard and Dr. Palmer, services were held in only two churches Sunday night. A large crowd attended the Methodist and listened to a splendid sermon by Rev. H. H. Kennaday. A large congregation also attended the evangelical services at the Presbyterian Church, conducted by Rev. H. C. V. Campbell.

S. D. McCommon and his daughter, Miss Edna, who have been in Bluefield for some time past, returned yesterday evening to their home here.

The friends of Mrs. Eliza Vaughn will be pleased to learn that a letter received by Miss Pritchard Sunday stated that she was entirely out of danger.

Miss Amelia Lauderdale left Monday morning for Virginia College, after a two days' visit to the pleasant home of Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Logan.

The Charles Frantz farm was sold yesterday in front of the courthouse for the third time, and purchased by Wm. Houser, of Roanoke, for $3,305. The first time this farm was sold it brought $1,570. At the second sale it was purchased by Mr. Houser for $2,250. An upset bid was put in by the heirs, amounting to $2,475, resulting in yesterday's sale at the price quoted above. The farm contains sixty acres, and the price paid per acre was $55.00.

Yesterday was the first day of the February term of the county court. The largest crowd seen in Salem for six months was in attendance. The air was balmy and spring-like but the clouds ominous, no rain falling, however, except a slight shower about 4 o'clock. The seal man, the fertilizer man, and the street fakir were on the streets, but above the talk and roar of the street could be heard continually the song of the auctioneer. Jockey Alley was crowded with every description of horse flesh, from the plug with the "nick" tail to the kind of which Mark Twain describes as having many good points, most of which you could hang a satchel on. The latter kind prevailed. It was generally conceded that the prices of horses would be better but for the large number of jackasses in Washington that have interfered considerably for the past few years with the horse market, with no chances of diminution. The following business was transacted in the court: The case of J. V. Johnson vs. T. F. Jamison for unlawful detainer, was on motion of defendant continued and set for next Friday. In the commonwealth case against Yank Evans and Cornelius Crockett, colored, for burglary and larceny, they having plead guilty, the jury found the following verdict: "Yank Evans, twelve months confinement in the county jail and a fine of $5; Cornelius Crockett, four months' and fifteen days in jail, and a fine of $5." Court adjourned until today at 10 o'clock.

THE GRANDEST REMEDY.

Mr. R. B. Greeve, merchant, of Chilhowie, Va., certifies that he had consumption, was given up to die, sought all medical treatment that money could procure, tried all cough remedies that he could hear of, but got no relief; spent many nights sitting up in a chair; was induced to try Dr. King's New Discovery and was cured by use of two bottles. For past three years has been attending to business, and says Dr. King's New Discovery is the grandest remedy ever made, as it has done so much for him and also for others in his community. SILVER CHAMPION DEAD.

Wm. P. St. John Expired in New York Sunday.

New York, Feb. 15.—Wm. P. St. John, the former president of the Mercantile National Bank and one of the principal champions in the cause of free silver, died at 8 o'clock last night at his residence here, of a complication of kidney and stomach troubles. Mr. St. John was born in Mobile, Ala., in 1847.

TENNESSEE'S NEW INDUSTRY.

It Has a Vinegar Spring Which It Proposes to Use for Pickling Things.

From the Memphis Commercial-Appeal: A new enterprise is being promoted in Obion county, Tennessee, which will be one of the most wonderful in the world. It comes with the discovery of a vinegar spring on the famous Reelfoot lake by Pete Bennett, of Paducah, Ky., while on a hunting expedition.

This was probably six months ago and Mr. Bennett, seeing the vast possibilities in such a spring, kept the matter a profound secret until he could get sufficient capital interested in order to make its development assured. He was successful in securing the aid of a multi-millionaire of London and the organization of the company is complete.

It is proposed by this company that they make a garden spot of several thousand acres of fine land that surrounds this spring and plant the whole of it in cucumbers. The vines will be trained to run in trenches between the rows of hills and when about half grown, by means of irrigation the vinegar from this spring will be turned through the trenches and kept on the vines until the cucumbers are grown, when it will be turned off and the finest of the pickles will be gathered and barreled for shipment.

The company will then buy 5,000 head of hogs to eat the pickles refused for shipment and to waste in the vinegar marsh, so that at time of slaughter they will not only ship bacon, shoulders, ham, etc., but can fill all orders for pickled pigs' feet on short notice. They will sell vinegar only in five barrel lots.

A TERRIBLE PUNISHMENT.

There is no death penalty in Belgium, but few criminals would choose the punishment substituted for it—that is, if they had a choice. The condemned man is placed in a dungeon so constructed that from the moment he enters it he will never hear the sound of human voices nor see a human being. His food is passed in through a sliding panel in the door of his cell. Not one prisoner has ever been known to survive this punishment more than three years. The authorities have striven in vain to prolong their lives by varying their food as much as possible, but those who are moderately or lightly nourished gradually waste away, while those who are fed generously go mad and die raving maniacs.—Chicago Chronicle.

WELL PAID CHOIR SINGERS.

The highest paid choir singers in the world are two American ladies, Miss Clementina De Vere, at the Paxton Church, in New York, who receives $4,500 a year, and Miss Dutton, at a Baptist Church in the same city, who receives $3,000 for her services. The men in the choir of Westminster Abbey receive salaries ranging from $400 to $500. There are about 230,000 singers in the choirs of various places of religious worship throughout the United Kingdom. Rabbi Wolfers, the Jewish musical historian, says that during divine service at the ancient temple of Jerusalem a full choir consisted of 24,000 men, divided into three great bands and separated from one another upon vast platforms. The choir of the great Mormon temple, at Salt Lake City, is the largest in the world, numbering 250 trained voices.—Chicago Chronicle.
